FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Shea Receives International Award of Distinction for Creative Design

MINNEAPOLIS (May 28, 2008) - Shea, Inc., a Minneapolis-based marketing and design firm, received an Award of Distinction in the 2008 Communicator Awards competition for its creative design work for Cambell Mithun Tower. With over 9,000 entries from across the US and around the world, the Communicator Awards is the largest and most competitive awards program honoring the creative excellence for communications professionals.

In 2007, Shea worked with United Properties, property managers for Campbell Mithun Tower, on a building repositioning which included development of a new logo, signage, and printed marketing collateral and brochures. The repositioning (which included interior and architectural upgrades also designed by Shea) encouraged several new leases and lease renewals for United Properties after a three-year lull in leasing activity.

Shea's creative work for Campbell Mithun Tower also received another international design award from the 2008 Summit Creative Awards® earlier in May.

About The Communicator Awards:

The Communicator Awards is the leading international awards program honoring creative excellence for communications professionals. The Communicator Awards is an annual competition honoring the best in advertising, corporate communications, public relations and identity work for print, video, interactive and audio. The past year's 14th Annual Communicator Awards received over 9,000 entries from companies and agencies of all sizes, making it one of the largest awards of its kind in the world. Please visit www.communicatorawards.com for more information. The Communicator Awards is sanctioned and judged by the International Academy of the Visual Arts, an invitation-only body consisting of top-tier professionals from a "Who's Who" of acclaimed media, advertising, and marketing firms. Please visit www.iavisarts.org for a full member list and more information.
